ICNS is the voice of nonpublic education in Illinois, ensuring that policy and advocacy agendas are monitored and given a voice as funding and regulations are formulated downstate. We provide the eyes and ears for our schools and need your support to continue this work. We at ICNS are committed to continue our strong advocacy for Illinois nonpublic schools locally, in Springfield and nationally through our work with the Council for American Private Education (CAPE). Nonpublic schools are politically only as strong as we are united. It is important to be proactive by joining and being part of nonpublic schools as a group, especially when issues come up on the state level that affect our constituency. This year, we had numerous items that we successfully addressed during the final budgetary/legislative sessions in Springfield. We can only do this with your support and thus, your membership is requested now more than ever.
